DEAD COUGAR is held by Hinton Police Chief Bob Grey after it was shot in the bushes near the new valley townsite. The beast left six-year-old Brian Kilbreath clawed and bleeding when Mrs. Elsie McEvoy grabbed it by the ears and pulled it off the boy. If the cougar had continued its attack a few seconds more, said doctors, the boy's jugular vein would have been severed by the cat's sharp teeth and claws. Residents of the district said they had not previously seen the animals in the area. Hunger is believed to have driven it to the settlement, as cougars are not known normally to attack humans.—Photo by the Hinton Herald.

Mike Maccagno, Liberal MLA Questions Hospital Plans

The province's plans for the old Royal Alexandra have been the subject of a discussion between Health Minister Dr. J. D. Ross and Mike Maccagno, Liberal member for Lac la Biche.

During the meeting of the legislature held March 19, Mr. Maccagno rose on a point of privilege and quoted from a news story concerning Dr. Ross's statements that the section of the hospital to be used for handicapped children would be a pilot project. Mr. Maccagno then read a letter from Premier Manning which said the facilities provide first class service.

"Which is it?" asked Mr. Maccagno, "first class service or a pilot project?" Mr. Maccagno also noted that the director of the cerebral palsy clinic had said first class service can't be provided in a third class building.

Dr. Ross said first class service would be provided and it's not dependent on the building, but rather on the persons providing treatment and instruction. Concerning the remarks of the director of the clinic, Dr. Ross said, "He is free to his own opinions, we don't try to muzzle him."

Mr. Maccagno, nearly drowned-out by the desk thumping of government members in support of Dr. Ross, said he still hadn't answered whether the hospital will be just an experiment of permanent.

A LENTEN MESSAGE:

FAITH MEANS DELIVERANCE

By JAKE PLETT, Pastor
Evangelical Free Church, Lac la Biche

By the word "Faith" we do not mean a particular denomination or religion, but that universal Law of Salvation set forth in the Holy Scriptures, "He that believeth on Him is not condemned, but he that believeth not is condemned already because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God—" (John 3:18). Our "Faith and hope" is in God, alone. (I Peter 1:21).

Our Faith in Jesus Christ means deliverance from the Penalty of sin, which is death, (Rom. 6:23), for Jesus "bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we being dead to sins should live unto Righteousness." (I Peter 2:24)

Our Faith in Jesus Christ means deliverance from the Power of sin as the Apostle Paul says in Romans 6:11-14, "Reckon yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord. Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body—but yield yourselves unto God as those that are alive from the dead—for sin shall not have dominion over you—".

Our Faith in Jesus Christ means the ultimate deliverance from the very Presence of sin. The day is coming when "the Lord Himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, and with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first." The "dead in Christ" are those who died trusting in the atoning work of Christ. (I Thessalonians 4:16, 17) All believers alive at that time shall be caught up with them to live forever with Christ. Their home shall be one where "God Himself shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain for the former things are passed away." (Revelation 21:4).

Such faith is a real comfort in these days of world chaos. We live not only for the present, but for the future!

"May wife is always analyzing me—so I got myself a couch in the Alberta Country Life classifieds."

Only persons who have been dead for 10 years can qualify for election to the Hall of Fame.

THE SECOND SIDE TO

Alberta's New Liberal Leader

Dave Hunter has never sat in the provincial legislature, but the Liberals weren't looking necessarily for an experienced politician. What they needed was an administrator and organizer who could rally party stalwarts and fire them with enthusiasm, and on to victory. They found these qualities in Mayor Dave Hunter of the town of Athabasca. Editor Ken Larson has the story in this week's issue of Alberta Country Life.

Marcelline Gagnon And W. Plamondon Pledge Vows At St. Isidore Church

AVENIR — St. Isidore Roman Catholic Church, Plamondon, was the scene of a pretty wedding when Mr. Wilbert Plamondon, third son of Mr. & Mrs. Clifton Plamondon, pledged vows with Miss Marcelline Gagnon, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Gagnon.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was beautiful in a long white wedding gown handsomely fashioned in nylon net and nylon lace, with square cut neckline bodice of lavish cut sequins and simulated pearls, and back-closing with self-covered buttons. The bouffant skirt covered a nylon net underskirt. Her shoulder-length veil was of nylon tulle, with a rhinestone halo of simulated pearls and side combs. Her necklet was an aurora borealis combined with simulated pearls and matching earrings. She carried a bouquet of red roses with tiny roses tied to ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Gauthier, who wore a street-length dress of pale pink nylon, and Miss Sylvia Plamondon who wore pale blue nylon. Rhinestone-set tiaras and elbow-length white gloves and small bouquets completed their ensembles.

The groom's attendants were Mr. Marcel Plamondon, brother of the groom, and Mr. Alcide Gagnon, brother of the bride, who wore charcoal suits and ties similar to the groom.

Mother of the groom wore a navy blue silk dress with pink corsage. The mother of the bride chose a beige silk dress and pink corsage.

Rev. Fr. Fernand Croteau performed the ceremony. The altar boys were George Gagnon, brother of the bride, and Vincent Plamondon.

The choir sang beautiful hymns accompanied on the organ by Mrs. John Genaud.

The wedding reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Plamondon, at Bayview, followig mass for both families.

A three-tier wedding cake adorned the table, attractively arranged with bouquets of flowers.

Father Croteau proposed the toast to the young couple and to their parents.

Following the reception a wedding dance was held in the hall to the music of the Chevigny Brothers' orchestra.

Parents of the bride entertained the next day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Plamondon.

Out-of-the-district guests who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Plamondon of Fort Smith, sister of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. George Richard of Fort Saskatchewan, also a sister of the groom.

Letters were received from Laurent Plamondon and Jean-Marie Gagnon, both of British Columbia, who were unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Plamondon will leave soon for the NWT where the groom is employed as a towerman each summer. They will make their home at Bayview.

IODE Discusses School Prize

McMURRAY — The Christina Gordon Chapter of the IODE held its monthly meeting at the home of Regent Mrs. W. Hill with Mrs. N. Verbisky lunch hostess.

A letter from the CNIB was read and discussed and a motion was passed that the IODE would conduct a canvass for funds for the CNIB.

A discussion regarding changing the annual school prize which the IODE has been awarding to the grade 9 and 12 students attaining the highest average over 65, took place. As grade 12 is no longer taught in McMurray schools, it was suggested another grade be chosen for this award. It was decided to discuss this with the teachers before a grade was chosen.

Two new members, Mrs. H. Olson and Mrs. A. Graham were sworn in by Regent Mrs. W. Hill.

Many of you may be interested in the new Canada Standard garments that are now appearing in some stores.

How To Recognize C.S.S. — The C.S.S. mark will assure you that you are buying a Canada Standard Size. The measuring tape and the figures are the essence of the system. Eventually this mark will appear on the garment itself, but if you find it only on the outer package for the first few months, it will still be authentic. A little time must be allowed for the design and printing of new labels. However, there is no other mark that means Canada Standard Size. And it applies only to the size of the garment when you buy it, not to standards of material or workmanship or shrinking or stretching or anything else. It does not refer to quality and may appear on a very expensive garment or a very inexpensive one.

B. McCutcheon

Use Your Tape Measure — Do Not Buy Clothes By Age — Canada Standard Sizing is different, but it is as simple as a tape measure. Since it is based on body measurements, the first thing to do is measure the child. Where to measure depends on what you want to buy. For a garment that fits the whole body or one that fits above the waist, you need to measure: 1) Hips; 2) Chest. You need these measurements for the following garments: undershirts, blouses, jackets, combinations, dresses, T-shirts, sweaters, snow suits, pyjamas and overcoats.

For a garment that fits at the waist and below, you need to measure: 1) Hips; 2) Waist; 3) Sometimes leg length (from crotch to floor). You need these measurements for the following garments: briefs, drawers, slacks, slims, panties, trousers and shorts.

For boys' sport shirts and dress shirts only, you need to measure: 1) Neck; 2) Length of arm.

How To Find The Correct Size — You may shop using these measurements alone, or you may find the child's size yourself from the tables set up for this purpose (available at this office). For all garments except shirts, the size is expressed by a number and a letter, like 22A or 24X.

The number is the hip measurement.

The letter is the second control measurement, A for slim chest, B for sturdy chest; Y for slim waist, Z for sturdy waist.

These letters refer not only to the measurements themselves, but also to the ratio of these measurements to the hip. This is called the body type.

Your child's letters do not normally change as your child grows. Once you know your child's letters, or body type, you know them always. You will learn your child's letters when you make your first purchase of a C.S.S. garment. When he needs new clothes, the only one of the three basic control measurements you will check each time is his hip.

Why CAC Asked For Canada Standard Sizes — Two girls are eight years old. Neither can be fitted with what has been called a "size 8" garment. Average sizes have also proved to be unsatisfactory for many children. For example, it has been shown that over 70% of 12 year old boys cannot be fitted satisfactorily with garments made for average 12 year olds.

A collection of garments all marked the same size would show how the confusion is multiplied. Many manufacturers have excellent size standards, but to clothe one child you will have to buy several brands, and they may all be different.

This trial and error system of fitting involves a great deal of trying on or a great deal of returning of garments. Both are expensive of time and energy and money, and are not very good for the garments themselves.

Where To Buy C.S.S. Undergarments Now — Although specifications are ready for 19 garments, only underwear is availble now in some stores. By the fall, if retailers are encouraged by the consumer's interest in and purchase of C.S.S. undergarments, there should be a good selection of other garments in retail stores.

Here are stores where you can find C.S.S. undergarments now. Be sure to ask for them:

Mail Order Catalogues — The T. Eaton Co. reports "The Spring Catalogue" will list 29 C.S.S. undergarments for children — 12 items for boys (8 years and over); 12 items for boys and girls (2 to 6); 5 items for girls (8 to 14).

Simpsons-Sears Ltd. reports "underwear made to C.S.S. dimensions, packaged and ticketed under present size nomenclature with a column on the package showing 'body type' is available in following items — 12 items for boys and girls (2 to 6x); 5 items for girls (7 to 14); 8 items for boys (6 to 16) plus some items of winterweight in same sizes". In addition certain stores may have a few items. Ask about them.

Consumers — It's Up To You — The success of this new sizing system will depend on whether or not mothers buy children's C.S.S. underwear. If you want to be able, in the future, to buy all types of children's clothing made to standardized sizes, you must now start buying C.S.S. undergarments. Retailers are waiting to see the response of consumers to the few garments now available. This kind of sizing, based on body feasurements, is sensible, logical and reliable. It will save us time, frustration and often money.

Government Plans Electricity Generation, Transmission Study

The generation and transmission of electricity in the Edmonton area will be studied by the Alberta government to make sure there is no duplication of facilities. This was announced in the legislature last week by Russell Patrick, the minister of Industry and Development.

Mr. Patrick pointed out there are three separate power suppliers in the Edmonton area—the City of Edmonton Power Plant, Calgary Power and Canadian Utilities.

The minister said the government plans to hire an independent engineering firm as soon as possible to make recommendations to the government's Power Commission which regulates power utilities in the province. He said the purpose of the survey will be to make sure that there will be no duplication of facilities which would increase the costs to consumers.

Mr. Patrick said the study would take about a year to complete and its terms of reference would include the study of integrating power facilities in the area. The government expects the study will cost $26,000.

Legislature Members Estimate Education Expenditure Costs

After members of the legislature had discussed and studied department of education estimates of expenditures for the coming year, the sum of $78,287,420 was approved. This amount is $8,778,050 more than the preceding year.

During the discussion Mike Maccagno, Liberal member for Lac la Biche, disagreed with one section of the estimates.

Under grants to schools, the estimates listed an increase of expenditures totalling $11,000,000. However, Mr. Maccagno noted figures included the $12,000,000 the federal government will reimburse the province as its share of construction of vocational schools. "Let's give credit where credit is due," he said.

Ambrose Holowach, (SC-Edmonton Centre), praised the estimates and said on a per capita basis it is probably more than any other area on the continent. He warned, however, that education gauged by the amount of money being spent is like putting the cart before the horse.

During the discussion, education minister A. O. Aalborg said no plans are being made to institute a regular series of television programs as teaching aids in schools.

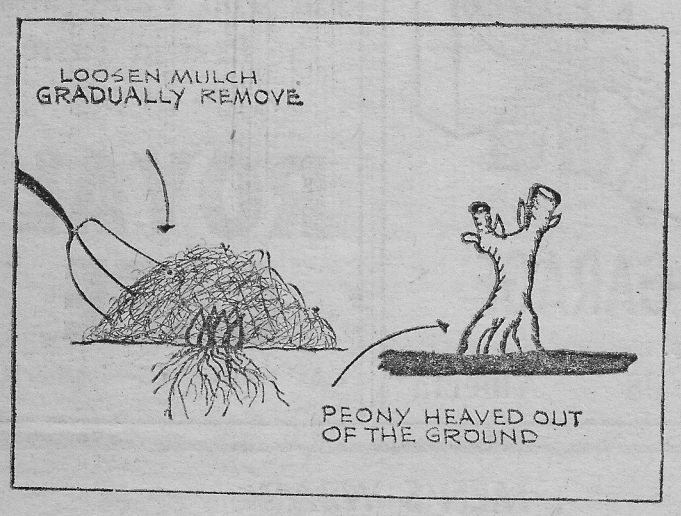
Garden Graph



Garden Early With Caution

A few sunny days in early March and the gardener gets that overpowering urge to get out in the garden and do something, especially after browsing through the garden catalogs on cold February evenings.

Frequently these early warm days are just teasers, followed by more bitter cold, windy days and nights. This is the reason garden mulches should be removed gradually.

As shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph, at first loosen the mulch with a spading fork to allow air to circulate through it. A week later, remove the top layer and gradually remove the rest of the mulch. Whenever possible, do this on a dull day.

Whenever plants are touched with frost, sprinkle them gently before the sun reaches them. The sprinkling results in a gradual thawing-out. Frosted plants reached by early morning sun are apt to be harmed more than plants reached by the sun later.

Also, as shown, watch for any plants heaved up or out of the ground by alternate freezing and thawing. When this happens, step the plants back into the soil or dig them out and reset them.

Peonies, which were planted last fall, should be checked for heaving. Tiny plants in the rock garden are frequently heaved or washed out of the soil. When replanting them, push small stones down around their crowns to hold them down.

10th ANNUAL FUTURITY: FARM ANIMAL AUCTION

Top Cowboys, Top Cattle In Edmonton Rodeo, Stock Show

Edmonton's Big Spring Show this year will provide an interesting study in contrasts. For it brings together all the hustle, bustle and hard-riding excitement of the rodeo — and the quite, serious atmosphere of the livestock judging ring.

Wrapped up in a new package — but still retaining all the highlights of previous years — the event will be known as the Western Canadian Stock Show and Rodeo.

Western Canada's largest fat stock show — with close to five hundred animals entered — will go on in the Sales Pavilion from March 26th to 29th A carryover will see an auction sale of purebred swine, also in the Sales Pavilion, on Thursday April 5th.

The Rodeo of Champions, with the top cowboy performers going after a total purse of $10,700 plus added entry fees, will be back in The Gardens from March 26th to 31st. Performances will be held at 8 o'clock nightly, and there will also be a 2 o'clock matinee on the closing day, Saturday. Tickets will sell at $2, $2.50 and $3. As well, 500 tickets will go for $1.50 before each show at the Gardens.

Events will include bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, bull riding and wild horse race. Bolstering the show will be the popular cutting horse competition, the $4,000 Canadian Championship Jumper Sweeptake and the Quarter Horse Show.

Heading up the big show — as he has in other years — is Cliff Ross. Working along with him are Glenn Tracy, Henry Singer, Lyal Roper, Leo Lemieux and Don MacDonald.

Harry Vold is the arena director and stock contractor — and it is his job to keep the two hour plus show clicking along on schedule.

All the "big ones" are expected to be on hand. Competitors such as Benny Reynolds, the world champion cowboy; Harry Tompkins, who has had a corner of the All Around Champion Cowboy title for some time; and such top-notch Canadians as Winston Bruce, Kenny McLean and Marty Wood, who finished first, fourth and fifth respectively in the 1961 Saddle Bronc Riding chase.

Twenty-two year old Kenny McLean also dragged down another honor. He was named rodeo's Rookie of the Year.

To take some of the competitive pressure off the spectators and cowboys alike, the Rodeo of Champions is calling on a couple of popular entertainers. Chuck Connors, former professional ball player, and now the star of TV's famed "Rifleman" series, will trot out his wares from 12 to 15 minutes each evening.

And on tap just about all the time will be that rodeo buffoon, Buddy Heaton — and his buffalo, Grunter. Yep, that's right, Buddy has added a former "Monarch of the Plain" to his act.

On the stock show front — Alberta's tenth annual Futurity Show will go on with the Fat Stock event. There will be judging and auction sales of Aberdeen Angus and Shorthorn Futurity Cattle, as well as bulls, in all classes.

Special events will be staged for junior exhibitors. And on Tuesday March 27th, a parade of champions will be staged before the rodeo spectators.
